The Cliffs of Moher are approximately 9 miles long, and they rise to above 700 feet at their highest point along the Atlantic coastline.

Cliffs of Moher

The first recorded sheepdog trials took place in 1873 in North Wales. Since the International Sheepdog Society formed in 1906, national trials are held every summer in Ireland and Britain.

Blarney Castle was built in 1446. Legend has it that the Blarney Stone bestows upon the kisser the gift of eloquence or 'blarney'.

Blarney Castle

Formed roughly 60M years ago, some of the 40,000 columns go as high 39 feet into the air. One of two UNESCO Heritage Sites in Ireland (Brú na Bóinne).

Giant's Causeway

The building's overall shape represents the bow and keel of the ship and are the same height as Titanic. It is not a museum as there are no longer artifacts from the ship.

Titanic Belfast

Newgrange tomb (part of the Brú na Bóinne complex) has been dated to 3,200 BC. Built by a Neolithic farming community 1,000 years before the pyramid of Giza.
